

THE 2020 KITCHEN & BATH CONTEST

Creative use of materials, products and the ability to forge unseen design were top of mind when selecting the winners of the 2020 Kitchen & Bath contest. Thank you to all who shared their work and congratulations to the winners across all categories.

LARGE KITCHEN DESIGN

PHOTOS BY MARGOT HARTFORD PHOTOGRAPHY

Designed by John Lum Architecture and Tiffany Johnson of Peninsula Modern, this large, Japanese-inspired kitchen is full of warm, exotic wood and rich textures. Intended to evoke balance and mysticism, the custom teak cabinets, built by contractor Noel O'Rourke, mask the appliances, providing a sense of artistic serenity with elements of surprise. The oversize island is covered in a black PaperStone made from recycled paper and a non-petroleum resin paper that reflect the deep hues of green Jade Manganese-Olive tile backsplash from Heath Ceramics.

Dubbed the Courtyard House Kitchen, this colorful small kitchen in Silver Lake features a playful punch of olive-green lower cabinets, beautiful Calacatta marble countertops and a circular wood-clad island that anchors the room. Designed for ease of use, the multifunctioning space serves as a homework hub as well as a cocktail bar during social gatherings.

OUTDOOR KITCHEN DESIGN

Andrew Mann Architecture and Angus-McCaffrey Interior Design

Outdoor living is by far one of the top advantages of living in California. Andrew Mann Architecture and Angus-McCaffrey Interior Design kept this in focus when designing an outdoor kitchen pavilion in Sonoma for a family that likes to retreat and relax. Emerging from the curvaceous garden beds, the sloped roof shed, built by Sawyer Construction, houses a wood-burning pizza oven, full counter setup and an extended table for large family gatherings.

MASTER BATH DESIGN

Fougeron Architecture

An exploration of the tension between public and private design, this master bathroom, designed by Fougeron Architecture, features a uniquely curved glass shower that extends beyond the envelope of the house onto the screened front balcony. The design pays tribute to California's Light and Space art movement through elements like a custom vanity with 360-degree functionality that floats from a skylight.

POWDER ROOM DESIGN

Lindsay Gerber Interiors

PHOTO BY CHRISTOPHER STARK

Designed to evoke the feeling of a nightclub, Lindsay Gerber Interiors set a dark and moody tone in this provocative powder room. Black Venetian plaster walls and a solid marble sink complemented by oil-rubbed fixtures and herringbone floors create a perfectly balanced space with a surprisingly warm softness.

INDOOR/OUTDOOR BATH DESIGN

Tierney Conner Architecture

Realized as part of a modern addition to a traditional Bay Area home, this bathroom features a unique shower designed to make one feel as if they are showering outside without actually stepping outdoors. A frameless skylight creates an infinite view of the sky while infusing a variety of light and shadow throughout the entire space. Cepac Classic Round tile in Cotton creates a monochromatic effect to further pull in tones of the sky above.
